

CRANDALL SCHOOL

1885 - 1948

The purpose of this booklet is to revive many of the precious memories of bygone days at Crandall School.

Yes, reading, writing, and arithmetic were only a few of the daily subjects so well remembered and reinforced when sitting and listening to other class recitations. Indeed, when the occasion warranted, there was the use of the poetic mentioned "hickory stick" with the defensive effort of the hands to ease the sting.

What a thrilling and inspiring feat when it was by our command that recess or the noon hour had ended with our incessant ringing of the bell under the supervision of the teacher.

The many memories created by the activities that took place during recess and the noon hour are too numerous to list but readily bring a smile when we ponder them.

Another positive influence of the little country school that cannot be denied was the simple, yet very effective ways in which the moral fiber of the student was constantly being reinforced and strengthened in the areas of belief in God, honesty, loyalty, working together, responsibility, and a respect for and obedience to authority at all levels of society.

"School Bells; School Bells;" Ah yes, everytime you think of those days we hope this little booklet will bring the many faces and memories into a much clearer perspective regardless of how long ago it may have been.

Crandall School History

A warranty deed shows that Uriah H. Crosby of Tazewell County sold land to the school trustees of Township 25 North, Range 3 West of the Third Principal Meridian for the consideration of $10.00. This was for the Crandall School, and the deed was dated March 31, 1853 and was filed April 8, 1853.

Crandall had to be one of the early schools in the area, for four generations of the Christian Ackerman family attended the Crandall School District.

The teachers of the rural schools usually were responsible for the janitor work, and they were to have the school house warm at least one half hour before school started in the morning. In school records of the Crandall School of 1886 a contract was made with someone to build fires for three months at 10 cents per day. At the end of the year, this person was paid a total of $6.40. Sometimes a child would stay after school to help with some of the work like cleaning the blackboards and erasers.

Some of the old records of the Crandall School were available. For the school year of 1883-1884 Miss Jesse Avery was hired to teach the school at $35.00 a month. Sometimes teachers were paid a few dollars more for the winter months than the spring and fall months because the enrollment was greater at that time. An example of this is that during the 1885-1886 school year 38 children were in attendance at the Crandall School, but some of these students attended only during the winter months. Of these 38 pupils, 13 of them were from 15 to 19 years of age. During April and May only 26 pupils were in attendance. The older children probably stayed at home to help on the farm.

The last Crandall School building was authorized by the taxpayers and built in 1901 with the issuing of $800.00 in bonds which were sold to Eugene Mathis at the rate of 5% per annum. The building was built by R. M. Smith of Deer Creek. The school trustees at that time were J. C. Ackerman, J. S. Schwarzentraub, and Elias Staker. W. Voelpel bought the old school building for $30.00. Clara Mosiman was recorded as the first teacher in the new school building and was paid $26.25 on October 2, 1901. This building underwent one major remodeling in 1924 when a basement was put under the building as well as other major changes and additions.

By 1948 six rooms were added to the Morton Grade School which now became known as Morton Community Consolidated School District #644 and all remaining rural schools including Crandall were bused to the city with the addition of a fleet of five school buses.

The Crandall School property was surrounded on three sides by Ackerman farm land and was purchased by the J. C. Ackerman family. It was used by the Baptists for church services for a time. The building was finally razed in the early 1960's and the land converted back to farm land.
